

Our position

- As the voice of the Nordic/Baltic agricultural community, we have a unique role for communicating the value of agricultural knowledge to stakeholders and policymakers.
- Focus is the agricultural sector, primary production of food and the quality and safety of the produce, and in rural and environmental issues.
- We are committed to promote and develop networks between actors in the Nordic/Baltic region.
- We bring together our members' expertise to make the best scientific evidence accessible to decision-makers.
- Our member-led policy networks drive policy engagement and skills development across the Nordic/Baltic region

Supporting members

- We help members to build their skills, develop their careers and enhance the policy impact of their work.
- We promote policymaking informed by agricultural science, with the potential to provide environmentally sustainable solutions to societal challenges whilst improving the economy and human wellbeing. We present the scientific evidence, rather than adopting policy positions or campaigning on particular issues. Our mission is to generate, communicate and promote knowledge and solutions in the agricultural sector.
- We welcome inquiries from anyone who deals with agricultural issues in their work.
- We recognise the diverse needs of our members.

Opportunities

- We offer exciting opportunities for scientists and advisors at all stages of their careers to develop experience working at the science-policy interface.
